

ABSTRACT

Protector elements for use in combination with medical devices configured to repair vasculature or other body lumens. In one aspect, the protector elements embody a cuff which provides a medical device with atraumatic surface and a desirable profile. In another aspect, the protector elements provide a 5 medical device with enhanced structural integrity.

09901993.071001